

L

-1G. 2

 $\neg$

 $\neg$

L

```
if (strcmp (ptr - > name, n) == 0) return (ptr - > size);
                      int get_file_size( char *n, Hash_Table Hash )
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             → NEXT
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            ERROR: POINTER NOT SET \sim 402
dirhash. c
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 ADD HISTORY - 403
                                                                                                                                      key = key + (int) (n[i];
i++;
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               ptr = ptr - > next; - 401
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             EVAL PTR —
                                                  int i, j, key;

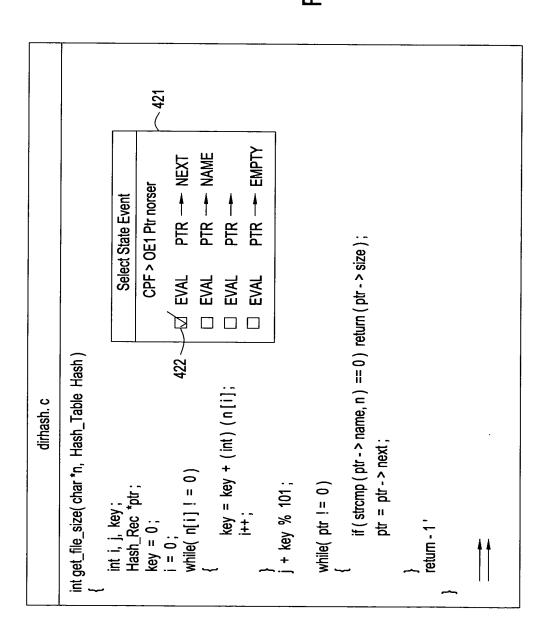

Hash_Rec *ptr;

key = 0;

i = 0;

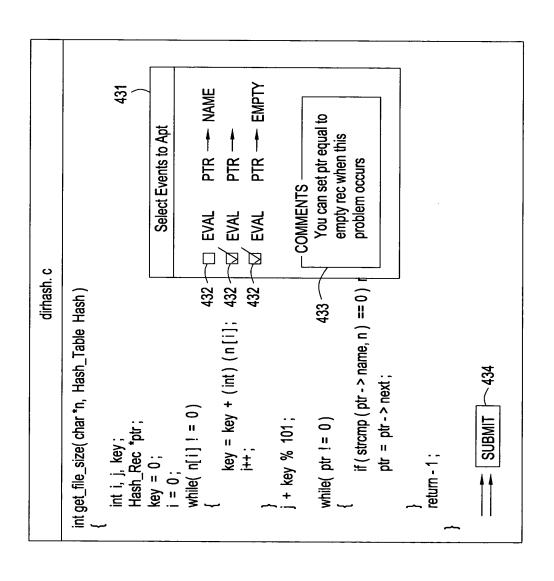

while( n[i] ! = 0)
                                                                                                                                                                                                       while( ptr != 0) {
                                                                                                                                                                                   ; + key % 101;
```

IG. 4B

 $ldsymbol{f L}$

FIG. 4C

L

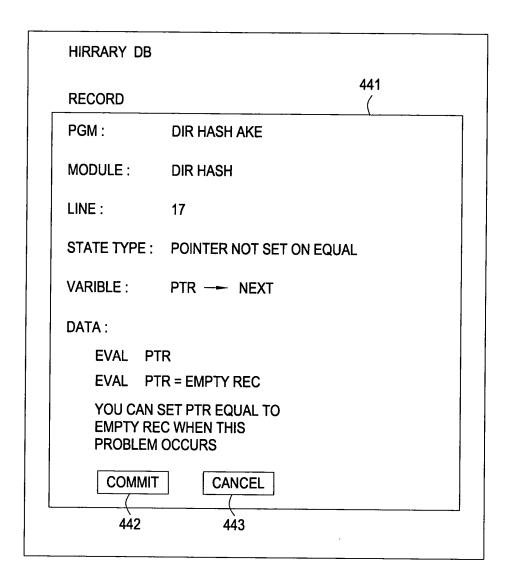

FIG. 4D

J

 $\neg$

FIG. 4E

```
dirhash. c

int get_file_size( char *n, Hash_Table Hash )

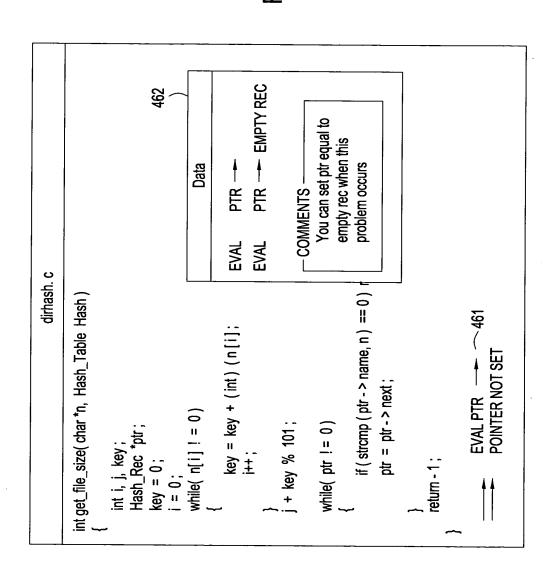

{
    int i, j, key;
    Hash_Rec *ptr;
    key = 0;
    i = 0;
    while( n[i] ! = 0)
    {
        key = key + (int) (n[i];
        i + +;
    }
    i + key % 101;
    while( ptr != 0)
    {
        i (strcmp (ptr -> name, n) == 0) retum (ptr -> size);
    }
    if (strcmp (ptr -> name, n) == 0) retum (ptr -> size);
    }

ERROR: POINTER NOT SET — 451
}

ERROR: POINTER NOT SET — 452

EVAL PTR —— NEXT
```

FIG. 4F

 $oldsymbol{ } oldsymbol{ } oldsymbol{ }$